NOTE OF SEVERITY IN HAIR STYLES

London. Coiffure is more important than ever in its influence on the appearance of the ultra-smart woman. While odd little fringe effects are being encouraged by some of the fashionable hairdressers and their clients, there is a strong note of severity even in the evening styles.

The bared brow vogue helps this trend. A wisp of fringe at one side breaks the line of the otherwise almost austere evening coiffure photographed. The second style, also for evening, has the hair drawn tightly from the brow and arranged in soft waves and curls to give length to the head.

"OF HUMAN BONDAGE"-KING'S THEATRE

W. Somerset Maugham's poignant and powerful story, "Of Human Bondage," is at last brought to the screen by R.K.O.-Radio.

It is the story of Philip Carey, played by Leslie Howard, who believes that dreams and human bondages are the stuff of which mortals are made of. He himself was in bondage enamoured to a beautiful but worthless and utterly selfish, woman, whom he worships with a strange passion stronger than anything he possesses in life.

As Philip Carey, a medical student, he is well bred, artistically inclined, and is doubly sensitive because he is lame. He meets Mildred, a waitress, and is at first intrigued and then enslaved by her.

He is powerless to break th mysterious chains which bind him to Hildred, who takes what he has to offer, but gives nothing in return, and even the love of an intellectual woman of his own class is unable to free him from the bondage.

Bette Davis plays the role of the luring, soulless Mildred, and Kay Johnson portrays the woman who tries in vain to break the chains of the selfish waitress. Frances ald Sheffield and Reginald Owen.

"THE RETURN OF THE TERROR"---ALHAMBRA THEATRE

"The Return of the Terror," a mystery drama, written by the late East:-Edgar Wallace, is First National's current release now at the Alhambra Theatre.

The story involves a doctor, superintendent of a hospital, who is accused of murdering patients to but them out of misery, and who is sent to the insane asylum to save him from the electric chair. On the same night that he escapes, several another murders occur, and a startling, unexpected climax with the woman he loves.

THE ENCOUNTER BETWEEN SOUTH CHINA "A" AND THE RECREIO AT CAROLINE HILL YESTERDAY YIELD-ED YET ANOTHER INSTANCE OF THE CHINESE TEAM AN-NEXING THE POINTS AGAINST THE RUN OF PLAY, SE-CURING VICTORY BY THE ODD GOAL IN SEVEN AS THE RESULT OF A LAST MINUTE PENALTY.

South China, still without Ip Pak-wa, fielded the same forward combination which was so successful on Saturday, that they failed to repeat their brilliant methods, was due to the untiring display of A. V. Gosano.

After a short bout of decisive tackling indulged with the opposing forwards, the South China forwards evidenced their appreciation of Gosano's work by the haste with which they were wont to rid themselves of the ball when near_him.

VESTERDAY'S SELECTION OF THE COLONY'S INTERPORT HOCKEY ELEVEN TO MEET MACAO ON FEBRUARY 3, AT MACAO, HAS CAUSED A MINOR SENSATION, FOR ONE OF THE FINEST HALF-BACKS IN THE COLONY, ALAF DIN OF THE PUN-JABIS, WHO GAVE A MAGNIFICENT DISPLAY IN YESTERDAY'S FINAL INTERPORT TRIAL, HAS BEEN PASSED OVER IN FAVOUR OF G. SOMMER, WHO, ALTHOUGH HE DISPLAYED GOOD FORM, SHOULD NOT HAVE SECURED A PLACE IN THE INTERPORT SIDE ON ONE TRIAL.

THE SELECTION COMMITTEE HAVE INDEED GONE FURTHER THAN THAT, AND E. V. REED. WHO REPRESENTED THE COLONY AGAINST MACAO AND MALAYA LAST YEAR, WAS OMITTED IN FAVOUR OF A. M. RODRIGUES, WHOSE RECENT FORM HAS GIVEN NO INDICATION OF IN-TERPORT STANDARD.

Another surprise selection was that of Lt. Metcalf, the Army player, for the right-back position, which, if consistent form was to be taken into consideration, should have gone to F. V. Wong, of St. Andrew's or E. V. Reed, of the Club.

Brilliant inter-passing bouts by the left-wing of the Probable forwards, and a stout and spirited defence by the Possibles' intermediate line; provided the two outstanding features of the final Interport hockey trial, which was held at King's Park yesterday, and, which although good in parts, was on the whole disappointing.

RODRIGUES AND SOMMERS GAVE OUTSTANDING DIS-PLAYS IN THE POSSIBLES DEFENCE, ESPECIALLY THE FORMER, WHO BORE THE BRUNT OF THE PROBABLES' ATTACK IN THE SECOND HALF, AND WHO WAS RESPON-SIBLE FOR SOME VERY NEAT INTERCEPTION WORK. ## Fowler And Divett Shine

The forwards, with the exception of Divett and S. Fowler in the Possibles' side, and the three Indians in the Probables', were ragged in their passing. Fowler and Divett formed a perfect partnership in the opening half of the game, and gave the Probables' defence many anxious moments. Fowler continually broke through the defence of Alaf Din and E. V. Reed, and his centres were good, while Divett's tricky stick-work often carried him into the circle where he was however,

Excellent Combine

Gurbachan Singh, Kartar Singh and Lal Singh were excellent together, and the understanding they displayed gave the impression of them having played together for several seasons.

Garthwaite and Mackay were never really prominent, but this was accounted for, by reason that Markay rarely received the ball and when it was sent his way, it was too far forward.

Garthwaite and Gurbachan Singh were seen together in several passing bouts, bringing the ball up to the Possibles circle, but once inside, Garthwaite was very inneffective and was easily robbed." (Continued on Page 7)

East Lancs Collapse

The East Lancs had an even portion of the first-half exchanges, but for a brief spell in the second period, their defence simply went to pieces, and the Chinese took full advantage of this lapse, piling on 1 three guals in quick succession.

Apart from this, Gorman and Steels had shown good understanding, and their tackling and rapid Oxford, in goal, was responsible for many splendid saves, and could not be blamed for the goals religistered against him, being mostly shots from almost point-blank range.

Walkden opened at centre-half, but resumed after the interval in the centre-forward position, Smith dropping back to his usual position. Both players gave a good account of themselves in the pivotal position, distributing the ball to the wingers very accurate-

The forwards showed far more The January Country Cup, second directness in their approach movements than in the last few games, and Lawton and Horner combined very effectively during the first half. Lawton went close with one or two good attempts, from passes by Horner; and altogether played a hard and unselfish game

Smith had bad luck with several accurate shots in this period, one of which was rather luckily blocked by a defender. The left wing, North and Tuley, did not see much of the ball, but made good use of any chances offered.

Athletic Take Lead

Raids at either end marked the opening exchanges, and the East Lancs looked like opening the acoring, when Horner sent in a high ball for North to head just over. At the other end, Tang, and then Young, tested Oxford with hard drives, but he effected good clearances.

SHATIN COLF CLUB SECURE REVENCE COUNTRY CLUB BEATEN

The Japanese (Shatin) Golf Club avenged a former defeat at the hands of the Country Club when they won a very close encounter by 23/4 points yesterday at Shatin.

The Singles played in the morning, paved the way for the Country Club's defeat, the latter's players taking too long to find the feel of the greens, and so allowing their hosts to establish commanding leads by the end of the first nine holes.

The absence of A. W. da Roza, the Country Club's champion, and his brother "E.D." greatly weakened their team. Detailed scores were:

The outstanding player on the field was Elms, who gave excellent display.

His long forward pases were perfect, while in the defence, he was superb, and had Kiley completely bottled up.

Sung played a great game in goal, although he had not much work to do.

Souza and Dellar were very sound in defence, Dellar being particularly good in clearing.

The Saints' forward line was very good. Reatty was always up the middle ready for a pass, while Herridge sent in some excellent centres.

Perfect Wing Combination

Lee and Ward had an excellent understanding, and made a perfect combination on the right-wing.

The Navy were a very disjointed team. . There was no combination, and the wing-men were starved more often than not. The only ocasions when Skinner had a chance was when Ryecroft cleared in his fine centres, but there was seldom anyone to receive them.
